

National Republican.

W. J. MURTAUGH, Editor and Proprietor.

Largest Circulation of Any Morning Paper in the District of Columbia.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING ($unday excepted).

BY W. J. MURTAUGH.

Northwest corner of Thirteenth and D streets, Washington, D. C. When it is published, it will be furnished to subscribers by carriers at 50 cents per month.

Mail subscribers, $1.00 per year; $40 for six months, and $20 for three months, payable in advance.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Twenty-five cents per line. Advertisements under "Want Ads," "Wanted," "Wanted," "Wanted," and "Wanted," twelve and a half cents per line.

THE WEEKLY REPUBLICAN.

Published every Saturday morning, and is furnished to subscribers at the following rates: One copy per year, $1.00; three copies per year, $3.00; ten cents each.

All communications, whether on business or pleasure, should be addressed to W. J. MURTAUGH, Proprietor, NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, Washington, D. C.

BUSINESS HOURS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

During the coming winter, in order to facilitate business coming before him as much as possible, the President will devote from ten to twelve o'clock in the day even to Sunday, to the reception of Senators, Representatives, and from twelve o'clock until two afternoons, on Tuesdays and Fridays, when Cabinet meetings being held, will be reserved by card. The business hours of the Vice will be from ten o'clock a. m. to three o'clock p. m.

THE REPUBLICAN PRESS UPON THE REMOVAL OF THE LIBERAL REPUBLICANS.

The liberal Republican organs in various sections of the country are denouncing the Republicans for its recent intransigence in regard to the suicidal policy of the Republican majority of the House of Representatives in failing to treat as they should be treated the dissenters who, out of party, were engaged in a strenuous struggle against the Republican party. This is only natural, and does not in the least disturb us. The praise of these journals is far more to be desired than their censure. And yet it is a little surprising, too. Hitherto the editors who have taken up the cudgels for Mr. Banks and Mr. Farnsworth and Mr. Blair have been more remarkable for their treachery and inconstancy than anything else. Horace White was never known to stand by a political friend in the hour of adversity. The same is true of Haines. But now, in a moment's notice, they show a decided bias in the direction away from the Republican party into the Democratic camp. It argues some little improvement in political morality, and may be the earnest that a soon to come victory will not be assailing him the author of their defeat and disasters in the last campaign.

The Chicago Tribune does not attempt to give a single reason why the Republicans of the House should reorganize their committee, but goes on to explain that the leading men of the House—Messrs. Greeley, Garfield, Folger, McCrary, Farnsworth, and others—have been opposed to the policy of the Senate, and that leader in the House who would fill the measure established by the REPUBLICAN is probably such a man as Chandler, of Michigan.

The Representatives whose names are mentioned in the above extract will not thank the Tribune for setting them down in this category, as opposed to the general policy represented by a great many of his brethren in the Senate; for the policy represented by him is one which he himself adopted in the last session, that received a unanimous vote in his favor, and which he has remained in his favor since then.

To say that he represents one thing and the gentleman named something else is indirectly paying him the greatest compliment he ever received, and dealing a back-handed stroke at Mr. Blaine and Mr. Farnsworth and Mr. Garfield, and Mr. Kelley. The Tribune would probably like to make a little trouble between the two classes, or rather between the Administration and them. If that be his object, we can readily understand his course, and sympathize with him at Mr. Blaine's. But this is not the only unfortunate allusion of the Tribune. In another place it says: "We doubt whether the House will be driven from its course by the clamors of the mob that prefer Barabas." It is, according to the Tribune, the select few, the "mob" is demanding the hand of Barabas—his execution, and not his pardon. Our contemporary must have lost all the tact which it once had some reputation. We have not read its columns very carefully of late, but this is a fair specimen of its logic and its reasoning: we are not surprised to hear that it is losing ground in the intestine North.

Now let us turn from this claptrap in the greatest Liberal and Independent organ in Illinois, to what its far sib and infinitely more temperate, the Inter-Ocean, says on the same subject. We reproduce its entire article.

The Republicans in Congress, and especially in the House, may be able to feel the Republican pulse of the same section. It is as follows:

"STAND FAST, BRETHREN!"

An independent journal, noted for its repeated attacks upon the administration, and its efforts to the return of the majority in the lower house of Congress to accept the resignation of Mr. Banks as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, says: "A union between Liberal and Conservative Republicans can easily be dissolved in the name of justice."

"Of what consequence is it to the country that a union between Liberal and Administration Republicans in Congress should be effected? There is a Liberal Republican in the Forty-second Congress who is as good as any man in the House. Who, then, Mr. Banks represents? Not only, but a disreputable fact, whose members left the Republican party at various times during, and since the last session of Congress down to the period of the report that the North carried the election, and that the Southern party had been beaten at the polls. The Southern party, however, has been demonstrating the Republican party and its leaders, from the President down, for the sum of two hundred dollars per night, and out of regard for what he calls his 'sense of duty.' He left the Republican party and became the inspiration of his opponents, to whom he contracted to deliver the German vote three or four months in advance. He can fit his fortunes with the Democracy, and if the Baltimore candidates have been elected, Mr. Schurz would have no objection whatever to be passed by them."

Horace White, Hailstall & Co., come to the defense of Farnsworth and Blair, and think they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportioned in Cincinnati as Farnsworth is in Washington and among his own constituents. The money to be paid to him will be less than to his actual services.

John W. Garfield steadily declines to have his name associated with the "mob" of the Tribune, and they ought to be retained at the head of their committee in the House of Representatives. This will not be the least surprise anybody. Hailstall and Farnsworth bear a strong resemblance to each other, and are both in the minority. Hailstall is a remarkable and as thoroughly apportion